This 1985 release is the soundtrack to José Antonio de la Loma's film about the life of some adolescent delinquents better known in Spain.

Los Chichos served up an unmatched soundtrack to the film.

In his autobiography, El Vaquilla said:

'When we went to play golf we always played its music in stolen cars. Even so, sometimes we would go looking for a car and if it didn't have a cassette player we would find another one'.
