'Noche de Flamenco y Blues', was recorded live at the Plaza de Toros Las Ventas, Madrid, on 29th July 1998 before a packed audience that enjoyed over two hours of non-stop music. Raimundo Amador, former member of the legendary flamenco band Pata Negra, had on the reigning king of the blues, BB King, his very special guest for the night. Among other guests were Kiko Veneno, Remedios Amaya, Charo Manzano, Juan Perro and Antonio Carmona, from Ketama. This is the first live album recorded by Amador as a solo artists, and the 14 songs it includes cover most of his artistic repertoire, from his time with the Veneno and Pata Negra to his most recent and successful solo years.
